JAPAN IS ONLY NATION FAILING TO ANSWER U. S.

Other Nations Accept Harding's Invitation to Conference

EXPECT JAPAN'S ANSWER

London, July 13.—Three of the principal allied nations, Great Britain, France and Italy, have officially signified their acceptance of President Harding's invitation to hold a conference on limitation of armament while China has indicated her readiness to participate in a conference relative to Far Eastern affairs. Japan is the only one of the allies which has not placed herself on record as being ready to take part in the Washington conference but it is expected in official circles here that her acceptance will be communicated to the United States government soon.

In government circles here it appeared to be the consensus of opinion that the meeting at Washington will be attended by some of the most prominent statesmen of the world. The announcement of Premier Briand of France that he would consider going to Washington followed indications that Prime Minister Lloyd George may also go provided conditions in Great Britain are such as to permit his extended absence from the country. It is probable that some of the leading figures in British official life will be present.

AUTO CLINIC TO COMBAT "WHITE PLAGUE" SPREAD

North Dakota Tuberculosis Association Clinic Starts Out On Work

The work being done by the traveling clinic of the North Dakota Tuberculosis Association was described by physicians in charge of the clinic, which is in Bismarck for a brief time.

There are many communities in the state that are twenty to thirty miles from a doctor and it was with this in mind that the traveling clinic was established. The services rendered by these doctors and nurses is free. Their work is maintained by the sale of Christmas seals in communities.

The traveling clinic sent out by the association is equipped to take care of all minor troubles but is not equipped for surgery. The physicians take care of the cases of tuberculosis in the state so they have reversed their methods and are teaching the children simple rules of health which will keep them well and so prevent tuberculosis.

The traveling clinic starts tomorrow for McLean county. From there it will probably go west of the river to counties where requests have been made for visits. Dr. McGrady of Chicago, his brother, a medical student in the University and Miss Farley, the nurse, compose the party. Dr. J. Grasso of Grand Forks is president of the association and has spent two months fitting up the truck to be used. The tuberculosis association is a distinct organization and cooperates with, but has no connection with the Red Cross.

ROAD TO PAY INCOME TAX

Railroads operating in North Dakota will pay their corporation income tax about June 15, amounting to $114,000. Tax Commissioner George Wallace said today. He said he was so informed after conferring with attorneys for two of the railroads. They had indicated their intention to refuse to pay the tax and test the right of the state to tax them, as a discrimination against interstate commerce.

Bismarck chicken fanciers were among the winners in the prize awards for poultry at the Inter-State Fair at Fargo. Winners include:

- Barred Rock—Peter Werlin, Bismarck, first cockerel; first pullet.
- Single Comb White Leghorn—Peter Werlin, Bismarck, first cock, third cockerel, first pullet. George R. Sandvig, Bismarck, first and second cockerel, second and third pullet.
- Single Comb Black Minorca—George R. Sandvig, Bismarck, first cockerel, first pullet.

Mr. Sandvig, who is employed as a baker at Homan's Bakery, was especially pleased over the award of his prizes. Mr. Sandvig has raised a number of fine chickens this year, but had made no special preparation for the Fargo exhibition. To win the first prizes for cockerels in Black Minorcas and White Leghorns over a field of entries from two states is an excellent showing.

THE WORLD'S HOTTEST JOB

ALICE CALHOUN AND SKETCH OF REFLECTORS BEING USED IN MAKING OUTDOOR MOVIES.

BY MARIAN HALE.

Somewhere on Long Island, N. Y., July 13.—The hottest job in the world? It's making movies "on location."

I have spent a day with Alice Calhoun, the Vitagraph star who is under contract to produce eight feature films this year.

We have motored to "location"—a wooded hollow off one of the main highways.

The temperature is around 100. Not a breath of air is stirring. At the bottom of the hollow is the set for a smuggler's cabin.

Director Edward Jose is putting Joe Striker, the leading man, and Dick Lee, the smuggler, through rehearsal of a fight.

Five times they fight a battle down the stairs from the loft of the cabin. "Camera!"

The sixth battle was to be the real one as well as the reel one. Crash. The fighting men slipped and fell 12 steps together. At the bottom they continued to pummel and claw each other till the director called time.

Jose wasn't satisfied. The fall was too sudden. He wanted a fight step by step down the stairs.

The gladiators—soaked with perspiration, scratched and limping—had to do it over.

As they reached the bottom Miss Calhoun's part called for her to rush in, press a pipe against the back of the smuggler's head and cry, "Hands up, or I'll shoot!"

More rehearsal.

"Camera!" All the pictures are made under the glare of a battery of reflectors which throw the sun's rays full in the faces of the actors.

A thermometer hung before the rays of these reflectors showed a temperature of 140 degrees.

A star earns her $1,000 a week on location in the summer time.

JACKIE COOGAN IS REAL "BAD BOY" IN "PECK'S BAD BOY"

He and Charles Chaplin Are Closest Friends Despite Severed Business Relationship

Although he is but six years of age, Jackie Coogan is the most talked about youngster in filmland today. We have all heard how Charles Chaplin found him and realized his screen possibilities; and how the famed comedian wasted no time in signing Jackie to portray the title role of the now famous "The Kid."

That was the first picture young Mr. Coogan appeared in. It is seldom indeed that a player ascends the ladder to stardom via a single photoplay. But Jackie Coogan is the exception. He not only won his spurs as a silent drama celebrity, but has won a warm spot in the heart of every picture fan in the world.

And speaking of winnig hearts—it would be hard to describe the feeling of friendship that exists between Jackie Coogan and Charles Chaplin. When Jackie severed business relations with Mr. Chaplin to assume the starring role of "Peck's Bad Boy," it made no difference in their friendliness. Not a bit of it. Suffice it to say that Charles Chaplin and this little wonder boy of the silver sheet are pals—have been pals from the very start—will always be pals.

The producers of "Peck's Bad Boy," in which Jackie, of course, assumes the "bad boy" character, felt that at some time or another, everybody likes to think back on childhood days and remember the happy times spent in play—times when worries and worldly burdens were something unknown. "Peck's Bad Boy" will refresh memories on this score. Those recollections will be made vivid when Jackie's Associated First National feature is flashed on the silver sheet of the Eltinge theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 14-15-16.

Jackie Coogan comes by his histrionic abilities honestly. His mother and daddy are old-time theatrical artists. They have given their child every ounce of teaching they possess. Today Jackie Coogan is conceded to be the most brilliant child actor on the screen. And with it all, the world cannot spoil him, for Jackie is just plain, honest-to-goodness American boy, all the way through. He does not act. He is simply natural and proves in "Peck's Bad Boy" that he has the power to create artistic and dramatic episodes as well as to provoke laughter. Therein lies the secret of his genuine artistry.

"Peck's Bad Boy" coming to the Eltinge theater, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 14-15-16, in which Jackie Coogan shines, contains many things other than comedy situations. There is a strong love theme throughout its episodes. Dainty Doris May and Wheeler Oakman provide this. Miss May, who is known as "the sweetest girl on the screen" was never sweeter than in her portrayal of Jackie's big sister in the Peck film, and Wheeler Oakman does some very clever work as the young doctor who falls in love with Jackie's big "sis." Jackie Coogan, the star of the film was interviewed by several eastern newspaper representatives. During the conversation, one of them—a warm friend of Douglas Fairbanks, asked Jackie the following questions:

"Who is the greatest film star?" "Charlie Chaplin," promptly answered the six-year old marvel.

"And who is the next best?" asked the visitor.

"Jackie Coogan," said the child, without hesitating.

"And who is the third best?" asked the newspaperman, thinking, of course, Jackie would mention Doug.

MORE VILLAGES TO RECOVER ORE

Hibbing, Minn., July 13.—A general exodus of merchants and business men from Old Hibbing to the new South Hibbing has started since the Oliver Iron Mining company, owners of practically all of the property in Old Hibbing, served formal notice to vacate.

Hibbing is moving because of the Mahoning mine, the largest mine in the world, has rich deposits of ore beneath the old village site.

Practically every house in the old village is owned by the Oliver firm. Only two or three of the properties are owned by other concerns, and these, too, are expected to change ownership before August 1.

It is estimated the deal whereby the Oliver Iron Mining company, a subsidiary of the United States Steel corporation, acquired the surface title to the land by purchase of the surface right and the buildings, cost the corporation approximately $2,000,000. Company agents negotiated with the several score individual property owners in gaining the rights to the 40-acre tract.

The mining company platted the tract which was to become the New Hibbing and only sold lots to those of the original townsites who desired to continue their business in South Hibbing. The lots in the new business addition were not sold to speculators.

but were held for the veteran business people. As a result, Howard street, the business street of the new town, will have no new business firms—only those who gave up their old location to the mining company.

DEVALERIA SEES HOPE OF PEACE IN CONFERENCE

was looked upon as an earnest wish of the good intentions of the participants.

Preparations Secret.
Preparations for the conference were held in strict confidence by those directly involved but it was understood that only a few men would take part.

Bookkeeper-Stenographer Takes Position

Lvina Rabie, who attended the Fine School of Business for a few months has now accepted a position as Bookkeeper-Stenographer with the C. C. Perry Co. of Dickinson, N. Dak. We place our help free of charge to either party. It pays to attend an American school.

First meeting
Most silence was observed because it was felt that misunderstandings might develop from some careless word or action and nothing all the work done to bring peace to Ireland.
Mr. Lloyd George spent several minutes in this country before a number of advisers and a number of times talked over the procedure to be followed at today's meeting. Mr. DeValera also held long conferences with prominent Irish Republican leaders but it was understood he would not be in contact with any of them on policy. It was said he was very thoughtful over the situation and considered any suggestion that would be made regarding a party in which the Sinn Féin, British and the British government would take part. But it was probable that during the meeting might not be reached until after Mr. DeValera had returned to Dublin and there taken counsel with the Sinn Féin parliament.

After lunch, Mr. DeValera, who has been out speaking in opposition to the first meeting, was received by a number of Sinn Féin leaders left behind in London. It was believed he would be ready today to act as spokesman for the northern Irish delegation should he be called on for an expression of opinion.

TRIAL RESUMED AS MRS. KABER RECOVERS SELF

Woman Charged with Murder
ing Husband Fainted on Witness Stand

(Cleveland, July 13.)—The trial of Catherine Kaber, charged with murdering her husband Samuel F. Kaber, resumed today following Mrs. Kaber's brief faint in court yesterday.

Physicians who examined her reported Mrs. Kaber to be almost normal with the exception of some nervousness due to the strain of the trial.

After offering two witnesses including an aunt of the accused woman who testified they believed her inane defense attorneys called Dr. James C. Hassel a specialist in mental disorders to testify regarding Mrs. Kaber's mental condition. Dr. Hassel said it was his opinion Mrs. Kaber was insane at the time of the murder.

Mrs. Catherine Kaber went into a hysterical faint in the courtroom yesterday while her brother Charles Brickell was testifying in her behalf in the case in which she is charged with murdering her husband Daniel F. Kaber. She screamed hysterically and fell to the floor. She was carried out by her brother.

Excitement among women spectators was intense. The crowd did not calm down until Judge Bernon had admonished all to keep their seats.

After Mrs. Kaber was carried into the judge's chambers she called incoherently for her daughter Marian McArdle.

Judge Bernon adjourned court until 1:15 this afternoon in order to give Mrs. Kaber a rest.

Her testimony and that of attorneys to her mental condition was expected to complete the defense case. Mrs. Kaber's counsel would not indicate how many attorneys would be called to testify. There was said to be a possibility that arguments would be commenced late in the day, and that the case may be given to the jury Thursday.

Mrs. Kaber is expected to testify concerning her husband's alleged "nasty habits" and admit that she hired persons to beat up Mr. Kaber in the hope that it would cure him of those alleged habits. Neither the state nor defense has yet introduced testimony bearing upon this subject other than assertions by some of the state witnesses that Mrs. Kaber hired and she wanted her husband beaten up because of them.

The trial came to a sudden halt yesterday after a defense attorney stated they had no more witnesses available for that day.

INFLATION IN GERMANY BAR TO TRADE PACT

Berlin July 11.—A S. Burleson, former United States Postmaster General who has returned to Berlin after investigating the commercial, industrial and financial conditions of Poland, Austria and Czechoslovakia is of the opinion that there is little hope of selling Europe large quantities of cotton and other raw materials until Germany balances their budget and makes definite arrangements to discontinue the issue of paper money and to retire that currency until its value is only three times that of the gold reserves.

I can't see any indication that the statesmen of Central Europe are facing their problems frankly and trying to formulate plans which get at the fundamental problems and meet in view the re-union of the new states and the renewal of the export trade, said Mr. Burleson. It is not reasonable to talk about foreign loans in Central Europe as long as the printing presses continue to pour out paper money without any gold guarantee or any prospect that it will be retired. Germany is in far better condition than the other countries of Central Europe, and I personally believe many could improve the exchange situation very seriously if it would suspend paper money and levy a tax over a period of ten years to guarantee its retirement and the creation of larger gold reserve. Foreign bankers want to see definite plans before they take a chance on the countries of Central Europe.

250 MEMBERS OF LEGION TO TOUR FRANCE

Go as Guests of Nation on Invitation of President Millerand—Two Months Trip

New York July 14.—The 250 members of the American Legion who will visit France in August and September at the invitation of President Millerand will represent every section of the United States and all arms of the fighting forces in the war. Every state will have its quota and it possible every combat division will have representation, says an announcement by the Legion.

A fixed quota based on Legion membership has been allotted to each state. Not all who have asked to be included can go but it is the purpose of Franklin D. Oiler, the former National commander of the Legion who is in charge of the pilgrimage to make the party a cross section of our former fighting forces. Selection of the members is in the hands of the state organizations of the Legion.

Details of the tour in France which have just been made public show that the Americans will visit again the principal American battlefields, attend various dedicatory ceremonies and will be entertained at numerous receptions.

The party will sail aboard the steamer George Washington on August 3 and will return about the middle of September. The principal events of the visit will be the dedication at Flirey of a monument to the American army which is the gift of the French municipality and the people of Lorraine and the laying of the cornerstone of the new bridge "Pont Roosevelt" over the Marne at Chateau Thierry.

President Millerand, Premier Briand and the marshals of France are expected to be present at the ceremonies at Flirey. Flirey is famous ground to the A. E. F. It is situated in the old Toul sector which the American troops took over in 1917. The village itself is only 400 yards from the old front line of the sector which was held at one time or another by 17 American divisions.

Another reception of note to the Americans will be by the little town of St. Die in the old Dunerville sector, also long held by Americans. St. Die's claim to special attention in light of the Legion visit rests on the fact that in St. Die stands the house in which the continent of America received its name. It is the one time abode of Waldsee Muller, the Alsatian monk, when he wrote the letter suggesting that the new world take the name of the Italian navigator Amerigo Vesputti.

Marshal Foch will be "at home" to the visiting Legionnaires. He will receive them in the house in which he was born in the town of Taubes in the Pyrenees mountains.

There will be receptions to the pilgrims at Paris, Bordeaux, Toulouse, Metz and Strasbourg. At Verdun the party will sleep in the famous citadel.

Rheims the veterans will attend the presentation of the 3,000,000 franc gift of the Carnegie foundation to the city library there. At Blois St. Jeanne D'Arc will be honored. The Legionnaires will witness the dedication of a statue to the French heroine which is the gift of the Joan of Arc committee of New York.

Under the terms by which the Legion accepted the hospitality of the French government the expenses of the expedition will be borne by the delegates themselves or by the Legion organization.

Mr. D. Oiler says that the proposal for the visit has been received with such enthusiasm by the American veterans as to constitute a striking and spontaneous tribute to France as a former ally.

The American veterans feel that the forthcoming expedition marks the entrance of the Legion on the stage of international affairs and that it will tend to knit more closely a mutual understanding among veterans not only of France and the United States but of all Allied countries. He said it shows that in the hearts of Americans who wore the uniform there surely dwells an abiding affection for France and the allies. It is noteworthy that many applications come from men who did not see foreign service during the war.

The king of England in opening the United parliament made a plea for peace in Ireland. The picture shows the king as he delivered the address from the rostrum of the Belfast city hall, Ulster's new parliament. At his side is Queen Mary. Following the king's appeal Premier Lloyd George opened the peace discussions which are still in progress, with De Valera and other Irish leaders.

New Merchant Enters Lists in This City
J. R. Siegal, of Aberdeen, S. D., will open a new store 35 Bismarck at 413 Broadway on August 1.

Mr. Siegal will sell haberdashery, some ladies' furnishings, carry a complete line of Wadsworth, Rice and Hudson shoes for men and women and Rice and Hudson's children's shoes.

Mr. Siegal's store will be in the room occupied by the Bismarck Fur company. The fur company will occupy quarters in the store-room for sometime pending a new location.

The new entrant into business circles of the city conducted a men's clothing and furnishing store in Aberdeen for ten years, and recently sold his store when he received such a flattering offer that he did not feel justified in declining. Mr. Siegal leaves many friends in Aberdeen but believes Bismarck has a great future and is confident that he can build up a big business as he did in Aberdeen.

MANDAN NOTES

DAIRY BARN TO BE BUILT BY BOYS OF SCHOOL

The new barn for the state training school on which the work is going rapidly forward will be a model of everything that is desirable and scientific in the way of a barn.

The work is being done entirely by the boys under the direction of the head carpenter and there is no doubt that these boys will have a very valuable knowledge of practical barn construction when they are done.

Superintendent McClelland believes in the future of this section as a dairy center and in the importance of teaching the boys who are to be our future citizens the very best and most up to date methods with regard to the dairy herd.

Every detail of the new farm building is being worked out with great care, stressing the importance of the comfort of the animals freedom from foul air, back drafts, chill in winter and everything which would tend to the inefficient in their care. And the embryo dairy farmers are watching every step with much interest.

The building will be 50x90 when completed with accommodation for the horses on the second floor which will be of cement and room on the third floor for gymnasium space until the completion of the real gymnasium.

PLAN BIG TOUR
The dairy farming tour from the eastern part of the state which has been arranged by Max Morgan of the State Experiment Station at Fargo and which is expected to arrive here Tuesday, July 19th, will be met here by a number of Mandan Boosters who will accompany the Red River people to their objective at New Salem where they will be entertained by the members of the New Salem Hotel Breeding circuit.

The Municipal Band had a meeting on Wednesday evening at which it was decided that the band would accompany the tour. Also the Boosters Tour quartette which was so effective last year have promised their services at New Salem where Fiddle Stein, one of their number has his home.

Much credit is due Mr. Morgan for his enterprise in the arrangement of this big meeting and for his enthusiastic furtherance of the dairy cow club.

SERIOUSLY ILL
Word has been received here that the condition of Joseph Crotshaw, who was taken to the Union Hotel last week, is slightly improved.

30,000 HORSES TO BE SLAIN TO SAVE FREIGHT

London July 14.—Horse lovers throughout the country have been shocked by Colonial Secretary Winston Churchill's announcement in the House of Commons that 30,000 army horses in Mesopotamia are to be killed because it is too expensive to bring them home.

It was explained that they are mainly heavy draft horses of which there is no local use and that they had to be fed on imported fodder. The nearest possible markets are India or Egypt, but the difficulties and cost of transportation there are said to be prohibitive.

Shipping men say it costs 40 to 50 pounds to bring a horse from the east to England not counting horsemen's wages.

The War Office view is that it is better for the horses to be killed humanely and scientifically than to be left in the hands of natives who will not care for them properly and no one would suggest turning them adrift in the desert.

Minot Dance Halls Are Under Fire

Minot, July 14.—Presidents of public dance halls in Minot, N. D., were worked up as soon as police officers conclude their visit. They claim that the objectionable dances only when the officers are standing on the steps of the door. Mrs. Joan Campbell, police matron, informed the city board yesterday when the matter of regulating public dances was up for consideration.

President W. M. Spohn had addressed a communication to the board stating that something had been done at once in regard to public dance halls.

There are five public dance halls in Minot. Mrs. Campbell and an officer would have to be at each dance and remain there for one hour.

NERVOUS, IRRITABLE, AILING WOMEN

Mrs. Britten Tells How She Was Restored To Health After Suffering for More Than A Year.

Another Triumph for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dimondale, Mich.—"I had inflammation and a displacement and weakness, and it had been neglected so long that it caused great pain, and this affected my mind and nerves so that I was very irritable. I had severe pains every month, so that I was often obliged to lie in bed for two days at a time. I suffered for more than a year before my friends said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' So I purchased one bottle after another until I had taken ten bottles, then Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I received so much benefit from this treatment that I am now able to do my own work."—Mrs. W. D. BRITTEN, R. No. 2, Dimondale, Mich.

Another Michigan Woman says: "I was bothered for a long time with female troubles and was so nervous I felt almost afraid at times. I also had a pain in my right side and was certainly in a bad way. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has relieved me of these nervous feelings and pains and I am much better in every way. I don't know just how many bottles I have taken, but I took it for nearly a year and it has done me a world of good."—Mrs. JESSIE GRANGER, R. No. 8, Box 51, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Good health is a woman's greatest asset. With it she may be the inspiration of her husband, a happy mother and the life of the home. Without it she suffers agonies herself, household duties are a burden, and her family is made miserable by her condition.

Is it any wonder that these women were nervous and irritable after suffering so long from such deranged conditions? Such ailments act directly upon the nerves, and it has been said that a large percentage of nervous prostration, nervous despondency, "the blues" and nervous irritability of women arise from some derangement of the female organism.

If women who are in this condition would only profit by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once, much suffering and unhappiness would be averted as everyone knows a nervous irritable, ailing mother makes the home unhappy and her condition irritates both husband and children.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

TRIM 'EM WITH NAIL HEADS

BY MARIAN HALL.

New York, July 13.—No Rolle the lady in the straight-lined gown does not suffer.

Yes, son, those really are nail heads, but the dress is not nailed on the pretty lady. Oh, no, indeed! See, the pretty lady is smiling? There is no nail attached to the nail heads.

She is happy because she has on a new dress with the most up-to-date trimming.

Why do pretty ladies like to wear nail heads on their clothes?

Ask me something easy, son. It's the fashion.

Would pretty ladies wear the dresses really nailed on if Fashion said so?

Yes, dear, I think they would. But these nail heads don't hurt a bit.

Nail heads by the way are very much in evidence for the late summer, fall and coming winter styles. They are shown in glass, brass, gun metal, at the popular hardware tints.

The gown in the illustration is of white canton crepe with a tiny insert or panel back and front upon which are the two rows of nail heads. The dress had panels or ribbon loops. These loops also trim the sleeves. Its simple straight lines are relieved by the novel trimming.

LET IT BE OF SATIN
New York, July 2. If there is one day of your life on which you deserve to be the center of the stage it is on your wedding day.

And for your wedding which you have announced for July, you must now be preparing. Not only will you plan your wedding gown yourself but you will plan the gown of every maid and flower girl so there will be no disturbing note.

It is your duty, your moral obligation, to be beautiful on this one day of days.

Satin Best
For the gown itself nothing rivals ivory satin and soft laces of a thousand memories. Though the ways in which it can be fashioned are legion some of the ultra smart brides are affecting the mode which goes without sleeves altogether. Their skirts are short and lace drapings hang in points below the hem.

There is something classic about the ivorine broadened velvet which some brides are selecting and having fashioned in the straightest and plainest of lines.

The neck is most often cut quite low in that round girlish effect. Veils are being variously worn but the preference seems to be for the simple arrangement. A lovely effect is achieved by a band of pearls which circles the head and holds the misty folds of tulle beneath, forgetting entirely any rubings or stand up effects.

Indian Chief Meets Mrs. Custer

The following article was published in the New York Tribune for July 19.

Mrs. George Custer, widow of the hero of Little Big Horn, greeted Chief White Eagle, a direct descendant of one of the Indians who took part in the massacre of 1876, yesterday. The meeting took place in the rooms of the American Automobile Association at 401 Fifth Avenue.

The Indian chief, attired in the full panoply of his tribe, journeyed to New York for the purpose of meeting General Custer's widow and presenting her with a number of letters and trinkets connected with the Battle of the Little Big Horn. He rode a pony from the historic battlefield over the Custer Highway to Omaha, where he boarded a train for New York City.

Raspberry Season Will Soon Be Over

DON'T wait much longer to put up a plentiful supply of raspberries and loganberries for next winter—in Ball Mason jars. The season for Cuthbert and Antwerp berries will soon be over. They are the most desirable varieties for canning and when they're gone there won't be any more raspberries in quantities for canning.

Besides the economy of home canning there is the satisfaction of knowing the quality of everything that goes into your jars. The family knows that no canned berries can equal the wholesomeness, flavor and deliciousness of those that Mother puts up at home.

CHILDREN OF CHANCE

Eat enough peaches and you will live forever. This is an ancient Chinese superstition, now given wide publicity by the California Peach and Fig Growers of Fresno.

Many years ago, a Chinese maiden—believing in this superstition—gave her sailor sweetheart a peach seed, to carry for luck.

At the end of his voyage, in America, he lost the seed. From it sprouted the first peach tree in the United States.

That shows you what chance will do—move a fruit from one continent to another. Keep it in mind, next time you are on a picnic and throw an apple, pea core or a plum seed by the wayside. Great crops, great wealth, may spring from a single seed—if chance is on its side.

A Frenchman, Louis Pellier, in 1856 brought to America its first prune tree. His sole purpose was to have near his new home, at San Jose, Cal., the tree he had always loved. That one tree started a giant industry.

The first peanuts were brought to our country by African slaves, landed in Virginia. A few were not eaten. They dropped to the ground, sprouted and, advertised by old Tom Rowland 60 years ago, originated a big industry of which Norfolk is the leading market.

The date-palms of Mekran, Persia, sprang up from date-seeds dropped by the soldiers of Alexander the Great on their way home from India.

It was in similar ways that the cherry spread over the world from its original home in Asia; and the apple, pear and plum from Armenia.

Years ago, a Canadian mailed to a friend abroad a bird-skin stuffed with the seed-down of the Canadian thistle.

Some of the seed got out, sprouted, spread like wild-fire—and today the Canadian thistle is a pest in many parts of Europe.

About 1870, some thoughtless individual brought two carp from Germany and turned them loose in a tributary of the Mississippi. Those two carp were the ancestors of every carp in American waters today.

Two English sparrows, brought to our country as pets years ago, were the grandparents of the sparrows that fly around your house today.

The rabbit pest in Australia started the same way.

There are thousands of other instances. Are they creatures of chance?

Or is there, behind them, some great and methodical process of nature which uses man and his thoughtlessness as an instrument for spreading vegetable and animal life throughout the world?

THE NEW GUN

A small-scale model of a new gun has been tested in New York which is so revolutionary in conception that its possibilities as an instrument of warfare stagger the imagination. Its inventor claims for it that it will shoot a five-ton shell from 200 to 300 miles. Its muzzle velocity is from one to five miles a second. It is smokeless, practically noiseless and there is no recoil from the discharge. Artillery experts who witnessed the test and listened to the inventor's explanation of the principles involved were not only amazed but convinced.

A German has invented a helicopter which, according to experts who have studied it and watched it perform, will revolutionize aviation. It develops a speed of over 300 miles an hour, can ascend and descend vertically, can remain stationary in the air and cannot fall.

The news which trickles through from time to time about what the chemistry experts are doing in the development of lethal gases makes the flesh fairly creep.

If we give our imaginations a little play and consider what the character of the next war will be we will probably come to the conclusion that unless the world's statesmen are plumb crazy they will find a way to make another war impossible.

RELATIVITY

The Princess Fatima of Afghanistan is visiting America and there is much talk in New York of the manner in which the princess has tortured herself for beauty's sake. For into the right side of her nose the princess has inserted a study of black jade set in gold.

Barbaric fashion? But what of girls who for beauty's sake permit themselves to suffer the torture of an electric needle that plucks their eyebrows hair by hair. The fashions of the studded nose and the plucked eye-brow are relatively the same.

SPEED

Forty-one divorces were granted in New York the other day, at the rate of four an hour. The applicants filled out standardized questionnaires and each case was disposed of with machine-like precision.

The business of home wrecking is modernized and simplified by the new method. It has the speed. Quick marriages. Quick divorces. The devil's in a hurry.

DYING POOR

The late Franklin D. Lane, who was secretary of the interior in the Wilson cabinet, left an estate worth $10,000.

It's very well to say that he died rich in the esteem of his fellow-citizens and rich in the legacy of good service rendered.

But the best tribute that can be paid to a public servant, who, like Lane, had in his keeping the fabulous undeveloped resources of the nation, is to say this of him: HE DIED POOR!

GUN-TOTING

Gun-toting has been made an unpardonable offense in Kentucky. Never will a gun-toter sentenced to prison be pardoned by him, says Gov. Edwin H. Morrow.

The gun-toter is the potential man-killer. To give him a good lesson before he has a chance to kill someone is much cheaper for all concerned than a good lesson after he has committed murder.

Governor Morrow's crusade for disarmament in Kentucky should be studied by the more backward communities, like New York and Chicago.

JOBS

A preliminary survey by the Reorganization Commission shows that there are approximately 740,000 persons on Uncle Sam's payrolls!

This includes the 300,000 in the postal service; the army and navy, 245,000; and the employees and agents of the diplomatic, consular, customs, revenue and other services scattered throughout the world.

In the District of Columbia the government payroll has been cut from 117,760 in 1918 to 83,452.

Still heavier cuts are expected in many lines when Budget Commissioner Dawes and Reorganization Manager Brown get down to brass tacks.

Congress, always more mindful of patronage than of economy, is expecting the worst!

The European cabinet motto seems to be "When in doubt, resign."

A business kept up by floating debts soon sinks under under currency.

The tramp army is conducting a few bumming experiments of its own.

A Chicago judge held a bathing beauty for further examination. Justice is not blind.

COMMON SENSE IN A SMALL TOWN

Dunbar, Pa., is not a large city. Its population is only about seven thousand. Nevertheless, what Dunbar lacks in numbers it makes up in spirit. It is the one place in America whose citizens share the ups and downs of life together for the betterment of all.

Dunbar has, of course, been hit by the business depression. The manganese industry, which furnishes employment to most of the population, has for some time been computing its monthly balances in red ink. It was decided, therefore, to close down the furnaces and plants on July first.

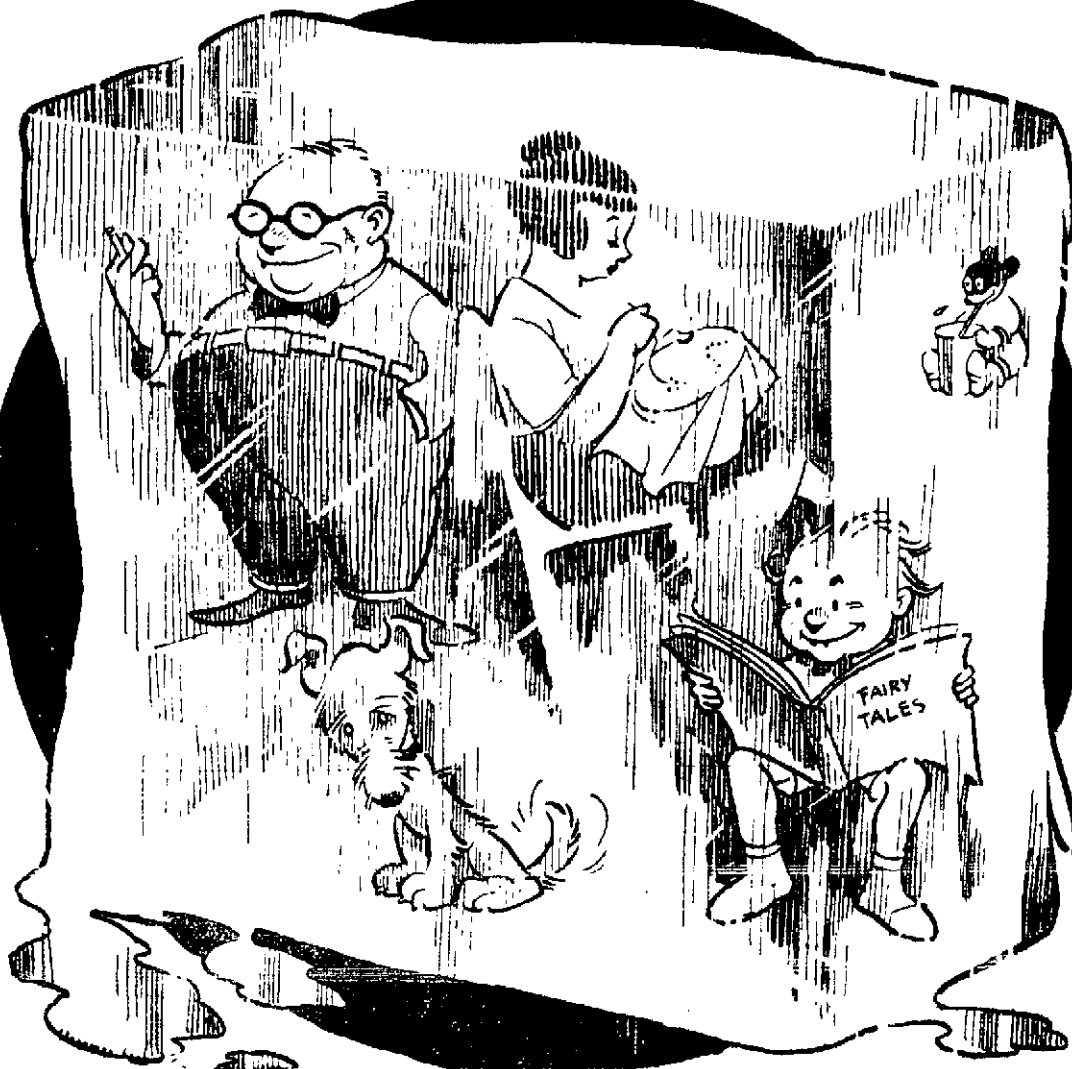

But the community saw disaster in this move. So the employees got together and talked things over. They decided to go to the employers and offer to stand a forty per cent wage reduction, so that the plants might continue to operate. "We believe it is better to work for less pay than not to receive any at all," read their petition.

That started things going. Before sundown the whole community, high and low, employer and employee, had started on a new ledger page an account of happiness and prosperity.

The employers accepted the men's terms. In turn they cut rents on the houses they let to employees forty per cent. The stores of Dunbar did their share by agreeing to reduce prices on all necessities. They realized that their prosperity was dependent on that of their customers. Thus did the Dunbar employees' petition become a community affair.

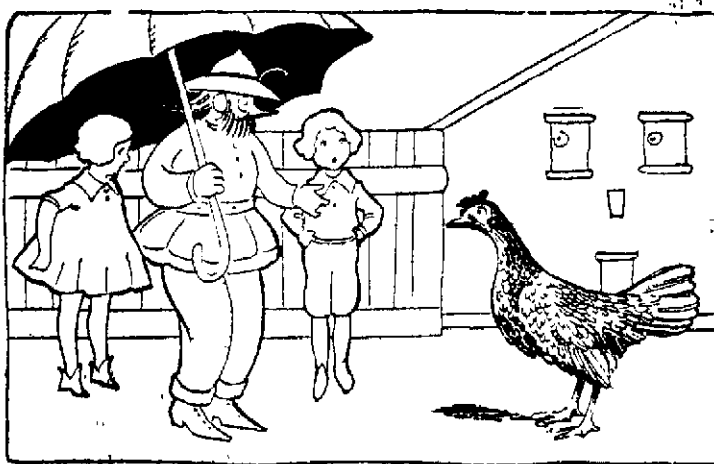

That Dunbar has seen the age-old question in its true light is deserving of mention in this day, when men in other communities fool themselves into believing that the world can move forward with labor and capital at enmity. — Minneapolis Journal.

KEEP COOL

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

"Better roost high," suggested Spinkie-Blow. "Fleety might like Chicken better than he does eggs."

"I think that things in the sky will take care of themselves," said Fleety. "I told you before, the only way in which I can find out just what people want is to stay around and see what they're planning to do. Let's be going."

So he said, "One for the money and two for the show," and all the rest of it, and they all gave a big jump and came landing down right beside Farmer Smith's chicken-coop where Biddy Bantam was scratching for grubs and shiny black beetles. Biddy hadn't started to raise a family yet, but she was going to soon. The weather was so fine. She had found a lovely place in the hay stack nobody knew about and already had 16 eggs in it. When she had four more she was going to cluck. She swelled with pride when she thought of the 14 little fluffy peeps who would soon be mothering, and scratched harder than ever. It was well to keep in practice with the prospect of such a large family to feed. "Clk, clk, clk, clk," she clucked. "Won't Farmer Smith be surprised. But I'm worried for fear something may happen to my nest. Since it is so warm now, I think I'll sleep up in the plum tree and keep one eye open."

"How can you sleep and keep one eye open?" asked Nancy. "Oh, so you heard what I said?" remarked Biddy turning around. "I didn't know anybody was near. Yes, I have to watch for Fleet Fox is as hungry as a bear after such a cold winter."

"Better roost high," suggested Spinkie-Blow. "Fleety might like Chicken better than he does eggs." (Copyright 1921 by Newspaper Enterprise)

DRUGGISTS AND THE METRIC SYSTEM

America has a Metric Association whose aim is to popularize the metric system and England has a Decimal Association whose object is to push the adoption of the metric system and also a decimal system of coinage. Great Britain and the United States are the only highly civilized nations that have not adopted the metric system though it is much used by scientists in both countries. America's metric association though only a few years old has accomplished a good deal with its propaganda. Manufacturers of many classes of commodities are marking their packages with metric weights as well as in pounds or ounces.

The whole movement gained momentum because of the war, for a number of reasons. We have learned that if our export trade to South America is to be increased we must use the metric system. Soldiers and other war workers who spent some time in France have grown familiar enough with it to know that it is easy to use.

Pharmacists will welcome the day when it is put into general use and many pharmacists are active in its advocacy. It would simplify their labors materially. A few manufacturing druggists market their products in metric quantities but for the most part a pharmacist buys by avoirdupois weight, 16 ounces to the pound, 437.5 grains to the ounce. Many doctors still write prescriptions in the old-fashioned quantities and this means more complications for an apothecary's fluid ounce is still an older thing. It is not always necessary to take into account the weight of a fluid ounce but now and then it is. If it is water it means 454.6 grains but it may mean more or less depending on the specific gravity of the particular liquid. In a prescription a druggist measures the liquids but their cost must frequently be calculated in terms of weight. Then each sort of ounce is subdivided several times and in a case by ten but always by some figure that does not lend itself to mental calculations. Occasionally he may have to use an English formula and this involves still another measure known as Imperial. The United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary which are official standards use the metric system exclusively so altogether er he must be familiar with the five distinct systems, four of which he uses many times every day. The simplicity of our decimal system of coinage should be convincing proof of the advantage of the metric system.

DARKNESS STOPS GREAT BASEBALL GAME

PITCHING DUEL FEATURES GAME WITH ENDS TIE

Al Anderson and Clarence Jensen Battle For Seven Innings on the Mound

ANOTHER HARD FINISH

Bismarck Fails to Score in Ninth with Man on Third and on Second

Bismarck and Fargo battled to a tie in nine hectic innings last evening before the game was called because of growing darkness. Since the game could not be played out on the diamond it was played on the street corners last evening in fans' post-mortem. The fans didn't settle the finish and it is probable that if the teams had continued to play it would not have been settled as Boardman and Taylor were pitching fast ones in the growing twilight and it was difficult for batters to connect with the ball.

The end was 2 to 2. And the last Bismarck man went out between third and home. It was as near a perfect finish as a finish could be without being perfect.

The fans having witnessed two hectic ball games, sensational and spectacular, were on edge for the last contest this evening, with Charley Boardman and "Buck" Taylor slated to pitch against each other. The two teams go from Bismarck to Fargo where a three-game series is to be played and Minot is due here next week.

Things Start Nice

Everything started off lovely for Bismarck. In the first inning Coble walked. Nichols fanned. He claimed the third one was way low. Joe Collins delivered a ringing two-bagger, scoring Coble. Otto Lehman struck out.

As the game progressed it became a pitcher's duel between Clarence Jensen, the former Agricultural College star, and Al Anderson. Both were hurling top-notch ball, with Anderson having the edge. Finer ball hasn't been pitched this year than Anderson's until the eighth inning. Fargo batters got one hit in the fourth and another in the seventh. In the eighth Fargo got two hits, one a scratch, before Anderson retired.

Bismarck's second run came in the sixth inning. Lehman walked, with one down, and stole. Ellis scored him with a single.

Fargo scored in the first. Fay went out, Coble to Wingfield. Lehman went out, Anderson to Wingfield. Schaffer was hit by pitcher. On his attempted steal, Miller Anderson threw the ball over second and Joe Collins' return to the infield went wild. Schaffer scoring.

The Bad Eighth

In the eighth Jensen got a scratch infield hit. Fay sacrificed. Lehman fanned. Schaffer delivered his second hit of the game, a two-bagger, scoring Jensen. Taylor was called on to pitch and he ended the disastrous frame by striking out Syster. Taylor struck out the first two up in the ninth and walked Boardman but caught him napping off first.

After Taylor went in for Bismarck Charley Boardman rushed out to warm up. He set Bismarck down in the eighth. Collins went out, short to first. Lehman fanned. Wingfield fouled out to first. In the ninth Ellis went out, short to first. Harper was safe on first baseman's error. Miller Anderson singled. Taylor fanned. Coble hit to first, who fumbled the ball. Harper rounded third, but Miller Anderson was too far off second and he was trapped. Harper then ran down between home and third.

Crowd Is Larger

A number of fielding features added to the excitement of the game. After playing ball at the start the local team settled down and played a fine game. Harper's start of a double play and his running catch of a short fly were features.

The crowd was larger than on the previous day, and numbered between 800 and 900. More than 1,200 people were expected to see the last game this evening. Visitors from many towns 75 miles distant are here for the series and a large number were expected in for the last game. Maudan rooters again occupied a prominent place in the grandstand, rooting for Fargo. And speak this with a whisper—one Bismarck man was among them and with them. But he was only one, and the fans of the city were solidly behind the team for the great battle it has put up against Fargo. The Fargo players have paid Bismarck the compliment of saying that the team has given them the hardest battles they have had this year. McInerney, Fargo center fielder, was obtained last week from the Rock Island club of the Three-Base League.

Speaker Coaches Another "Come-Back"

ALLAN SOTHERON

Indian Leader May Pull a "Caldwell" With Sotheron

History threatens to repeat itself on the Cleveland ball team.

In 1919 the Indians obtained Ray Caldwell at the waiver price.

Ray, a spitball pitcher, was figured to be through.

But Speaker, manager of the Indians, had a hunch.

He figured that Caldwell, with proper handling, could still be made to pitch the brand of ball that had rated him among the top notch hurlers of the American League.

And Speaker's hunch was right.

Last year Ray won twenty games, and was instrumental in bringing to Cleveland its first pennant.

Had Another Hunch

This year, with his pitching staff going from bad to worse, Speaker has had another hunch.

He has claimed Allan Sotheron, spit ball pitcher of the Browns, by way of the waiver route.

Two years ago, Sotheron stood fifth from the top among the hurlers of the American League.

Last year he stood twelfth from the bottom.

This year his showing has been so bad that Lee Fohl, manager of the Browns, asked for waivers. The Red Sox claimed him, but returned him with thanks after he had lost two starts.

Then Cleveland claimed him.

Speaker's hunch has melted at that.

Lost His Confidence

Sotheron's downfall dates back to the start of the 1920 season when, owing to the new ruling on the spit ball, limiting it to two hurlers on a club, Allan was deprived of his mainstay.

After losing his first two starts, the Browns hastily had him reinstated as a spit baller, but the damage had been done.

Sotheron couldn't seem to get started winning. Partly it was his mental attitude.

When his spit ball was taken away from him, his confidence went with it. And even with the restoration of the spitball, his confidence did not return.

Then, too, while endeavoring to acquire other deliveries to take the place of the spit ball, he had taken on mannerisms which signaled his every pitch to the third base coach of the opposing team.

Sotheron became a mark to batters.

Has Won His First.

But Speaker figures that he can restore his confidence, and correct his pitching faults.

And he can, look for Sotheron to repeat the come-back of Ray Caldwell. He already has a flying start, having won his first getaway with the Indians, against Chicago.

SO COHAN TURNS TO BASEBALL

By E. M. THIERRY.

New York, July 14.—George M. Cohan has turned his back on the theatrical profession because of his quarrel over the actors' "closed shop." And that's why he's going to soothe his wounded heart with baseball.

Broadway's "little giant" scowled at my questions and barked:

"No, I haven't bought a baseball club. There's only one I want. When it's for sale I'll buy it—this year, next year or the year after."

"No, I won't tell you which club it is. Certainly it's major league!"

"You know," George went on, "I almost bought the Giants four years ago, but Charles Stoneham snatched 'em right out of my pocketbook."

He fired up when I mentioned his retirement from the theater.

"I've quit!" he exclaimed, "I won't produce, won't write, won't act, won't sing, won't dance—as long as there's a closed shop!"

"As a theatrical magnate I can run my own business because I know it just as well as the next fellow."

"When I'm a baseball magnate I'll just be a magnate and let it go at that. I'll own the club—and I'll let some wise guy baseball man run it. I won't butt in, either."

Cohan, ultra-peppy in spite of the fact that he isn't as young as he used to be, kept sitting down and getting up and walking nervously around the room.

"Say, put it down that George Cohan's through—through! I'm going to take a vacation. First one in 26 years. It's about time! I can afford it. I've got the cash."

"I'm going abroad in September. You won't see my name on Broadway next season."

"Quitting because business is rotten? Certainly NOT! Business is bad, of course—but it may be pretty good next fall. Did you see that mob of 90,000 over at the fight in Jersey City? Gosh! And everybody's supposed to be broke!"

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Officials of the baseball club are mightily pleased over the support given by the fans. It is expected that the crowds for the three games will average nearly 1,000, a fine attendance.

Bill Heister, Minot pitcher, came to Bismarck to see the games. He said that Minot team would continue to play. Business men subscribed more money to the team and it is understood Moore will manage the team.

Al Anderson conquered the thing that has caused him trouble all season—wildness. Teammates expect him to make a fine finish, with his shut-out game against Strasburg and the game yesterday showing he has regained form.

Fargo accounts of the game hardly do justice to the Bismarck team. They gave Jensen credit for winning the first game with a single, failing to mention the gift of the game on an overthrow. They also gave Kutina the better of his battle with Higgins, despite the remarkable pitching of Higgins, with 14 strikeouts, and his especially fine pitching with men on bases.

Kutina, the Fargo hurler of Tuesday, recently was scoured from Rugby.

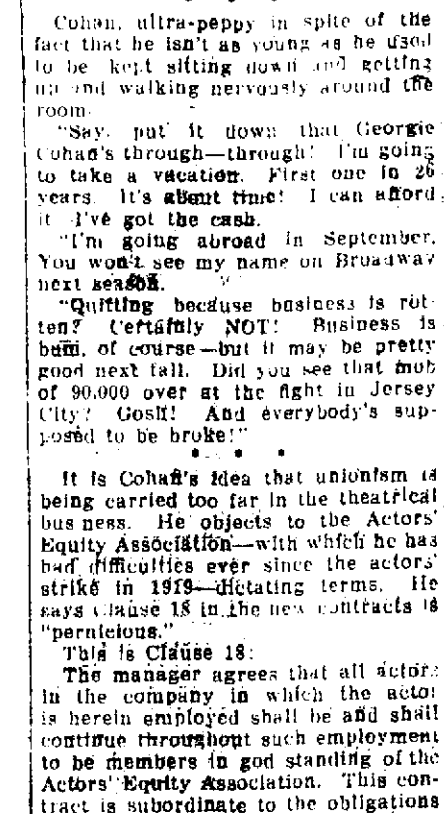

Larry Coble wants a new pair of shoes. His bad knees caused him trouble yesterday. Otto Lehman also had a bad that bothers. But the team was full of fighting spirit for today's game.

There are real baseball fans in the Slope country. A number of people from Linton, Turtle Lake and other towns were present for the series. The baseballs probably the best ever seen on the Slope. The Fargo team has several players out of middle-western leagues.

HIGHEST HONOR IN U. S. GOLF IS AT STAKE

Washington, D. C., July 14.—The highest honor in American golf: It will be at stake when golfers from all over the world gather on July 19, 20 and 21, at the fashionable Columbia Country Club, at Chevy Chase, Maryland, near Washington, to battle for the U. S. Open Championship.

This year's meet, the 25th annual affair, is expected to be one of the most spectacular in years. And several outstanding factors indicate that expectations will ring more than true.

Keen competition.

For instance, at present an Englishman, Ted Ray, is holder of the coveted American golf honor. And at the same time, an American, Jock Hutchinson, is holder of the English Open Championship.

These Two Cracks Will Be on Hand

At Columbia—Ray to defend his title, and Hutchinson to attempt to "ring in" with first honors. In order to present America with the world's golf honors.

If Hutchinson cops, both the English and American titles will rest on American shoulders. If Ray hangs on to his title here, he will have an opportunity to become world champ next season when the English championship will have its annual session.

IF the loss to industry through unnecessary friction could be entirely eliminated, it would mean a saving of sufficient money to pay off the combined state debt of Illinois, Indiana, North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri and Kansas in a single year.

—(Moody's Manual)

It would represent twice the value of all the vessels produced in the United States in a normal year, and would be greater in value than the annual rye, barley, or rice crop.

—(Statistical Abstract of U. S.)

The value of power lost to industry through friction has been estimated to reach the staggering total of $185,000,000 annually.

—(Industrial Oil Engineering)

Realizing that friction is an undesirable partner of industry, and feeling its obligation as the leader among manufacturers of lubricants, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has for years maintained a staff of lubricating engineers and lubricating chemists, whose business it has been to consult with industrial engineers to solve for them their individual lubricating problems as they are presented.

The services of these men are given without charge, and the saving effected has been great.

When it is realized that every machine presents a friction problem, and that every industry, from cotton goods to corn flakes is dependent on proper lubrication for turning out its product efficiently, one function of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) becomes more apparent.
